

Vamos A Bailar - Narration For Two Readers

- Boy: Hi, I'm _____ . (first name)
- Girl: And I'm _____. (first name) We're going to tell you about Vamos A Bailar, which is Spanish for "Let's Dance."
- Boy: The setting for Vamos A Bailar is a Latin dance club. A group of boys and a group of girls are planning to meet up at the club for a dance competition. One of the boys is a particularly good dancer. Here is the translation:
- Girl: Put on your dancing shoes. I can't wait to arrive. The boys are all coming, and I bet most of them are going to be looking at me.
- Boy: Gentlemen, learn from me. I dance like this. (show a dance move)
- Girl: Wow! Look how smooth that guy is. What a dancer! And here the boys come now. That guy over there is the one I saw. He will show me how the dance goes.
- Boy: Hello, there. Shall we see what happens? This is how we will start, and we don't even have to warm up. Try to dance really smoothly, and we'll be the best ones. Wow, your steps are pretty good!
- Girl: They're OK.
- Boy: Watch me.
- Girl: I'm going to fall down.
- Boy: Watch me.
- Girl: I'm going to fall down.
- Boy: Watch what I'm going to teach you.
- Girl: Wow! Your steps are even better!
- Boy: Don't you worry.
- Girl: Here come the judges!
- Boy: Take my hand.
- Girl: I'm nervous.
- Boy: Well, I'm nervous, too.
- Girl: Let's just start dancing.
- Boy: Yes, I think we could actually win this.
- Girl: Watch the steps.
- Both: And let's dance!
